Many Steps In The Job Search Process

Focus Today: New World Networking: Three Tips You Can Apply Today

- Prepare – How well do you know yourself?
- Present – Is your flash presentation ready?
- Places – Where do you find the network of right people?

Prepare – How well do you know yourself?

- What are your professional strengths, limitations, skills and abilities? List on Google
- What is the specific position you want? O*Net
- Are your social media profiles professional and current? LI, FB
- How well have you researched the companies where you want to become employed? www.siccode.com, www.census.gov/naics, Reference USA
- Where do the professionals in those companies meet?

Present – Is your flash presentation ready?

- How will you introduce yourself?
 - Is your introduction creative?
 - Does it make people ask more questions?
 - Are you bragging about yourself?
 - Do you have your presentation memorized?
 - Will it leave a lasting impression with the individual?
- Business Card – Vista Print

Places – Where do you find the network of right people?

The world has changed. Networking is done online, as much, if not more than in person now. You need to be prepared and find both. You can never have too many of the right connections so make it happen.

What have you learned today?

Interviewer: how would you describe yourself?

Me: verbally, but I've also prepared
a dance

What's Next?

- Take all of the information you have learned from this and the other presentations you attended and apply the information immediately to your job search process.
- To position yourself for even more success in getting your next job, you may want to sign up for the innovative, interactive, results-driven You Get Hired! Virtual Seminar. It includes six hours of Zoom Training and Breakout Sessions, a 65 page custom report of HOW you do what you do, WHAT motivates you, and your Competencies.
